If Gossip We Must

By "BROMIDE"

I thought it was too hot to be funny, at Fanling, on Sunday. Evidently so did a number of the horses, for the fields for all the races except the "Country" were the smallest on record. Whether this was due to the hard ground, or the wave of hypothetical "bighead" I do not know, but at all events many of the ponies entered stayed in their boxes with a wise kind smile on their faces, instead of panting round the race track. A large and expensive-looking crowd turned out to watch, and it was all great fun. The Lincolns were "At Home" in the Gunner match, and their band played extremely well throughout the meeting.

TWEEDS VANISH.

The heat caused a bit of a flutter in feminine circles, coming as it did so much before its time. Tweeds vanished, and cooler, flimsier things made their appearance. I thought that Mrs. Carrington-Sykes looked extremely charming in a navy blue hat, and a navy blue and white check macramé dress. Mrs. Stanton was cool, calm and collected in a white dress, with a belt and scarf of burnt denim plaid. Another very successful ensemble was "Bea" Walker, a rosy and attractive arrival in the Colony.

THE NEW CAR PARK AT VICTORIA GAP.

nicely. Of the brave few who remained faithful to tweeds, I thought Mrs. Keary was easily the smartest. Besides her monocle she wore a light navy suit with a bag to match, and a dull mulberry hat. (The mulberry was dull, I mean, not the hat). Mrs. "Mike" Turner also favoured blue, and I particularly liked her small and rather impudent hat. Mrs. Murray was a sphinx in black and white, and Mrs. Macdonald was a very smart and stylish matron.

master again defeated the Duke of Milan, but in the next race Johnny Hope on that fine pony of his, The Gadwall, carried 20 lbs. extra to victory. This was Johnny Hope's last race in Hong Kong as he is being married on Thursday to Veda Campbell. I am sure we wish them the very best of luck.

THE FUN STARTS.

The Australian race was a "Flash" well on Kites, came home with Kobibel following at a more dignified pace.

Then the fun started. I really think that half the crowd came to Fanling to see the start of the Ladies race. This one surpassed all former efforts. "I want you to walk up" said the starter, raising his flag. Upon which, three ladies disappeared rapidly in the direction of Canton, one of the older horses faltered, and the cow jumped over the moon. When they had gathered up the fragments, they managed to get off more or less according to plan. Lois Fearon won comfortably, while Pamela Scot-Harston and Jacko Bonnar (who got a very poor start) fought for second place.

The Country race had so many starters that it was divided into two sections. Even so, it resembled a cavalry charge. Ferguson on Christmas Belle took the honours in the first section, while, after many vicissitudes Bill Stanton's Skewbald Griffin won the second. I was sorry to hear that Jenkins' pony fell with him; the pony had to be shot, and Jenkins hurt his arm badly. I hope he will soon recover.

Those who are interested in watching races will do well to remember that there is an Army point-to-point near Poets bungalow on Sunday. The course is being flagged with only 3 flags, and I think the results of the races will come as a surprise to a lot of people.

THE ARMY-NAYY RUGGER MATCH AT HAPPY VALLEY.

who wore a navy blue suit, white hat, and a blue and white silk jumper. Mrs. van Wyck struck an original note in bottle green trimmed with astrakhan, and a black velvet fez on the side of her head. Two others whom I noticed particularly were Mrs. Rolfe, in an apple green wool suit trimmed with brushed white wool, and Mrs. White in a brown and white check dress with those smart umbrella pleats on the shoulders.

Sheila Hooper was back from Shanghai, looking as queenly as ever, in a copper brown three quarter coat and skirt, and a blue scarf that showed her hair off

I was glad to see Rosalie Alabaster about again, apparently none the worse for the nasty spill she had out hunting a few weeks ago. Other "Prominent Colony Spinsters" were the King sisters, Margaret in dark brown, and Rosemary in a rust wool frock with a rusty woolly dog to match.

The races produced no sensations. In the first, Bill Stanton carried all before him; Kenneth Kemble rode White Heather well into second place, while the Goat, the only other starter, gave David Yates a nasty and extraordinary fall. In the second race the "Mayor of Talpo's" Burgo-

£10,000 OFFER TO JACK DOYLE

One Contest Every Month

(Special Air Mail Service.)

London, Feb. 3.

Fight offers have poured in on Jack Doyle, the Irish heavy-weight, following the restoration of his licence after the six months' suspension after his disqualification in the fight with Jack Peterson at the White City on July 12 last.

We may expect news shortly of Doyle's ring return. He has had an offer from Mr. Jeff Dickson, the promoter, for a series of contests—at the rate of one a month. And, the last fight of the series would be a return meeting with Peterson at the White City on June 4, the Monday of Derby week.

Doyle and his representatives meet Mr. Dickson in London to-day. I understand that the total sum offered him is in the region of £10,000, which must be a record contract for a British heavy-weight.

Doyle's Drawing Powers.

This offer is still more amazing when one remembers that in his short career Doyle has had so few contests of any real importance. He is regarded, however, as the equal of Peterson as a draw, especially in London.

Doyle told me yesterday that he is keeping fit. "I have my morning run round Hyde Park and Kensington gardens every morning," he said, "and I have not an ounce of superfluous flesh on me at this moment."

"I am anxious to come back, partly because I want to prove that I can fight, and also to show that what happened at the White City was purely accidental, and arose from the new style I had adopted and, perhaps, from my inexperience. At times I have felt like throwing up boxing—there have been other tempting offers. But I have fought ever since I was a small boy, and I want to fight again. I want to blot out the memory of July 12.

And I promise you that when I do return I will fight more intensively than ever before. I will be world's champion yet."

Mizler at Stadium Club To-Night

A tournament is to be held at the Stadium Club, Holborn, to-night in aid of the memorial building fund of the Maccabean branch of the British Legion. Harry Mizler, the new light-weight champion, has promised to appear in an exhibition bout. In the principal contest, over fifteen rounds, Eddie Phillips (Bow) meets Tommy Farr (Wales).

Eddie Pearce (South Africa), who lost on points to Jack McAroy, the British middle-weight champion on Monday, will meet Al Burke (Australia) in a return contest at the Ring on February 18. Pearce and Burke boxed a draw in their first fight.

POPULAR DESSERT HAS NOVEL SHAPE

Following is a recipe for Pin-wheel Cookies:
1 cup shortening
1 cup sugar
1 egg yolk, well beaten
1 cup sifted flour
1 teaspoon baking powder (either kind)
1 teaspoon salt
1 cup ground chocolate
Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift together twice. Cream shortening, add sugar and cream until light and fluffy. Add egg yolk, blend well. Add flour mixture alternately with the milk, beat after each addition until smooth. Divide dough, add ground chocolate to half the mixture. Chill divided mixtures. Roll each batch of dough into a rectangular sheet one-fourth inch thick, and place the chocolate sheet on top. Roll up like a jelly roll. Chill overnight. When very firm, cut into one-eighth inch slices and bake on a cookie sheet in a hot (400 degree) oven for five or six minutes. This recipe will make three dozen Pin-wheel Cookies.

Mango Trifle with Boiled Custard
Ham-Stuffed Tomatoes

Wash and dry well six fine good-sized tomatoes. Cut through the top of each, without detaching, so that it will serve as a cover. Scoop out the inside of each tomato with a vegetable scoop, being careful not to cut the skins and lay them on a plate. Season the interior with half a teaspoonful of salt and two tablespoonfuls of white pepper, equally divided. Then fill each tomato with breadcrumbs, onion, sage and ham stuffing and close down the covers. Lightly butter a tin plate and lay them on it. Spread half a teaspoon of melted butter on top of each and bake in a moderate oven for about 16 minutes.

Mould of Lamb
Cold lamb: 1 level teaspoon salt; 1 cupful of finely shredded cabbage; 1 tablespoon lemon juice; 1 hard-boiled egg; 1 oz. gelatine; 1 pint water; 2 to 4 dessertspoons of sugar; 1 gill vinegar; 14 pimentoes (stirred); 1 tablespoon cooked peas. Dissolve the gelatine in hot water and add the lemon juice to it, with the sugar, salt and vinegar. Strain it and leave it to cool. When it is beginning to stiffen add the chopped pimentoes; cabbage, peas, and slices of egg. Turn it into a wet mould and allow it to set. Turn the jelly out on to a dish lined with lettuce leaves, ringed with overlapping slices of lamb and more lettuce leaves. Serve with hard-boiled eggs or tomatoes and mayonnaise.

Buttered Cucumbers
3 Small cucumbers; 2 oz. butter; seasoning. Peel the cucumbers and split them in quarters lengthwise. Remove the stalk end and cut the cucumbers into thick pieces. Put the butter into a saucepan, add the prepared cucumber and cook it gently until tender, keeping it well tossed about, and stirred occasionally. Season well and serve with the butter. It will take about 45 minutes to cook. Sufficient for 3 persons.

VEGETABLE SALAD

It is made with the turnips and carrots from the cabbage soup, with addition of one or two boiled potatoes, flavoured with salt, pepper, oil, vinegar, and chopped parsley.

SWEETS AND SIDE DISHES

Including A Cheese
Recipe

Celery and chestnuts, both are frequently included in the menu, so recipes for these and other dishes will not come amiss.

Celery with Tomato Sauce
Take 3 heads of celery, 2 slices of ham, 1 pint of stock, 1 egg, breadcrumbs, salt, pepper. Wash the celery and cut it in short lengths put them into a stewpan with the ham, stock, seasoning, and simmer for about a quarter of an hour. Allow the celery to cool, take it out, dip it in egg and breadcrumbs, and fry in butter. Arrange on a hot dish and serve with tomato sauce.

Bakewell Pudding
Required: 1 pint of bread-crumbs, 1 pint of milk, 4 eggs, 2 oz. of sugar, 1 oz. of pounded almonds, jam. Put the bread-crumbs at the bottom of a pie-dish, then put a layer of jam over them, mix the eggs and milk together, add the sugar, butter, and pounded almonds; beat these all well together, pour it into the dish over the jam. Bake in a moderate oven for about an hour. Serve in the pie-dish hot or cold.

Beef à la Mode
Take about 4 or 5 lbs. of the round of beef or rolled ribs, put it into a saucepan with a sliced onion, a little whole allspice, pepper, salt, a teaspoonful of raspings, and sufficient vinegar diluted with water to cover it. Stew gently for from 3 to 4 hours, according to the weight of the meat. This dish is excellent cold. Rumpsteak may be stewed in the same way.

Chestnut Shake.
Ingredients: 1 oz. of gelatine, 1 pint of milk, 6 sweet almonds, 1 lb. of sugar, 1 lb. of chestnuts. Soak the gelatine in a pint of milk all night; boil the chestnuts in water for 20 minutes, skin them, add the almonds, blanch them, and pound the chestnuts and almonds in a mortar; add the sugar, put it all into a saucepan with half a pint of milk, stirring all the time; when quite smooth, add the dissolved gelatine, stir for 10 minutes, put in a wetted mould.

Smile Awhile

There came a loud knock on the door. The doctor, who had just settled himself for a nap, got to his feet.
"What is it?" he asked the woman at the door.
"I've been bitten by a dog," said she, unhappily.
"Well, don't you know that my hours of consultation are between twelve and three?"
"Yes," groaned the patient, "but the dog didn't know. It bit me at twenty to four."

ORANGE SHORTBREAD

To make orange shortbread, put into a basin 1 lb. of sifted flour, 1 lb. each of sugar and butter, and 1 lb. of golden syrup, and 6 oz. butter, previously melted, and 2 well-beaten eggs, and the juice of 2 oranges. Mix to a dry paste, and bake for 1 hour.

and when set turn it out and serve.

Potato Omelette.

Bake in its skin a large potato or two moderate sized ones. When cooked, scoop out the inside and rub through a wire sieve. Beat the yolks of three eggs, carefully mix in the potato, adding a few drops of lemon, pepper and salt. Whip the whites of the eggs stiffly, and mix in very lightly. Put 1/2 oz. butter into the omelette pan, and when quite hot pour in the mixture, cook gently until it is a light brown underneath, then hold the pan under the grill until the top is browned. Turn out, fold over and sprinkle with finely chopped parsley.

Apple Rings.
You need some large apples, 1 lb. of flour, oil, salt, orange-water, 2 eggs. Pare the apples, take out the cores and cut them in rings, sprinkle with castor sugar. Make a batter, put the flour into a basin, add the salt, and mix in a little olive-oil and a tablespoonful of orange-water. Beat up the eggs and beat them into the batter, let it stand for half an hour, then beat well, dip the apple rings into the batter, and fry in boiling lard until brown; drain them, put on a hot dish, sprinkle with powdered sugar and serve quickly. (Dried apple rings may be used but are not nearly so tasty.)

Liver and Eggs.
Cook small slices of calves' liver in a frying pan with a little butter or dripping. Have ready a round of toast, put it in a fire-proof dish and soak with the liver gravy, pile up the liver on this like a pyramid. Break two, three, or four eggs over it, sprinkle with a little salt, add the rest of the gravy, and put the dish in the oven or under the grill for ten minutes. Then serve from the dish.

A FLAT CAKE TOP

Many beginners complain that when they bake a cake, for icing the top rises unevenly. They have either to cut it level as best they can or place the almond paste on a bumpy surface, with the result that the finished article looks like a model for the Alps.

Much the best way is to turn the cake upside down when it is cooked, see that it is firm, then put on the paste and icing. The effect is surprisingly professional.

TOASTED CHEESE SANDWICH

1 tomato.
Butter
Rounds of bread.
1 cup grated cheese
Salt and pepper to taste
Lemon
Toast one side of two rounds of bread. Butter the untoasted sides. Cover with slices of tomato. Sprinkle thickly with the cheese seasoned with salt and pepper. Place under the grill until the cheese is melted. Serve garnished with a finger of lemon. If wanted to serve to guests, cut the bread into little rounds, and put one slice of tomato on each.

LEMON MERINGUE PIE

10 oz. sugar
1 1/2 oz. cornflour
A pinch of salt
Juice and grated rind of 1 lemon
3 eggs
1 pint cold water
1 oz. margarine or butter
Prepare a pastry case and make the meringue mixture as follows from the above ingredients: Blend the cornflour with a little cold water from the half-pint of cold water; add the grated lemon rind and juice, stir, simmer for 8 minutes, or until clear. Cool and then add the salt, 6 oz. of the sugar and the beaten yolks of egg. Cook over a very gentle heat, stirring all the time, add the butter while the mixture is still hot, and pour into the pastry case. Beat the whites of the eggs stiffly, fold in 4 oz. castor sugar and pile on top of the tart. Bake in very slow oven until slightly brown.

BREAD AND CHEESE PUDDING

Take some thin slices of bread-and-butter, grated cheese, 1 pint of milk, 1 egg, salt. Spread the slices of bread-and-butter with a thick layer of grated cheese and arrange them in a pie-dish. Beat up the egg in the milk; add a little salt. Pour this over the bread-and-butter, let it soak for an hour, then bake for about an hour in a moderate oven. Serve very hot.

THE SWEET COURSE

A reader has sent me the recipe for an unusual and excellent sweet, which I should like to pass on to others.

Cut up a pound of apples in slices, add two pieces of best crystallised ginger, a quarter of a pound of best raisins, and the same of dates, sweeten to taste with brown sugar. Just cover with water, and boil up all together very quickly.

The sweet is ready when the apples are stewed to a pulp; then take it off the fire and flavour with lemon juice to your liking. It should be eaten cold. When you are next thinking of having a sweet omelette, add a few fairly coarsely crushed macaroons to the egg mixture before you cook it. Having done so, make the omelette, sprinkle it with powdered sugar, and as it comes to the table pour over it a liqueur-glassful of warmed Kirsch, and set it alight.

Sweets With Glucose

Glucose, obtainable from the chemist's is largely used in boiled sweets. When employing it, you will find a sugar thermometer an indispensable part of the equipment. Here are some reliable recipes:

Fruit and Nut Nougat

2 lb. loaf sugar
8 oz. fine honey
1 pint water
4 oz. cut cherries
12 oz. glucose
4 egg whites
8 oz. cut almonds
2 oz. split pistachio nuts
Set the sugar, glucose, honey and water in a suitable boiling pan, reduce to syrup, and boil up to 255°F. The stiffly-beaten egg whites are now added, and the whole well whisked. Finally put in the fruit and nuts, beating until the mixture shows signs of setting. The nougat is then poured into a frame lined with wafer paper.

HELPFUL HINTS

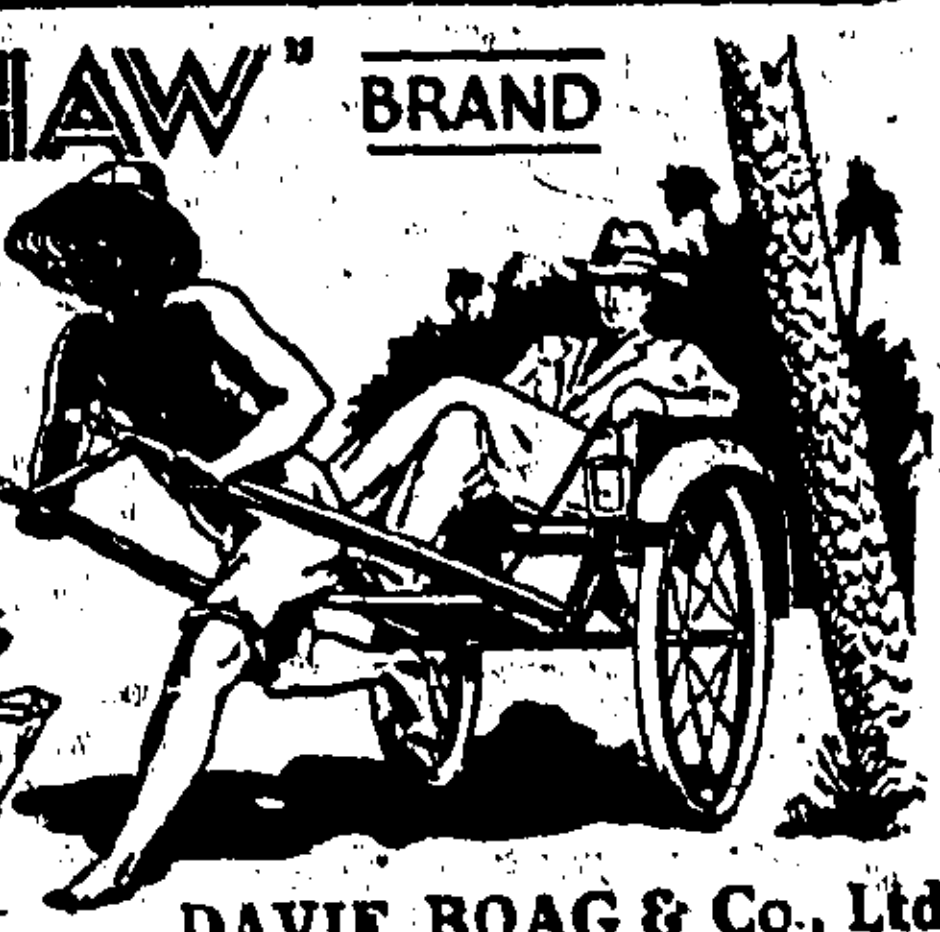

Flaked salmon and chopped cucumber, mixed and moistened with mayonnaise makes a tasty sandwich filling.

CANDIES

Your Diet

WHOLESOME TOFFEE
Melt quarter-pound butter in a pan, stir in half-pound treacle and half-pound granulated sugar, and continue to stir gently with a wooden spoon until the mixture boils. Cook for about ten minutes. Try a little in cold water—if it becomes crisp, it is ready to turn out. Butter a flat tin, pour the toffee into it, leave to cool mark out in squares, and put aside till it is quite set.

Almond Drops
Take four ounces of bitter almonds, and two ounces of sweet almonds. Put them into hot water, remove, peel off the skins, and pound the nuts in a mortar with a little castor sugar. When well beaten, add almost a pound of castor sugar, and beat in the well-whipped whites of two eggs, making a firm paste. Form this into small rounds, place on wafer paper, and bake slowly on a greased tin until hard.

Acid Drops
Put one pound loaf sugar into a pan, add a teaspoonful of water, let the sugar melt slowly, then boil gently for half an hour, removing any scum that may rise. Test in cold water. If the syrup hardens at once, it is sufficiently cooked; if not, boil for a little longer. Pour the syrup on to a clean hard stone surface, and sprinkle into it a quarter of an ounce of tartaric acid. Fold the mixture over the acid, and continue to fold until you have strips about an inch wide. Cut the strips into squares, sprinkle with icing sugar and set in a cold place to harden.

at Joe's the luncheon "across the street".
First course: Hot cakes.
Second course: Beer.

JAM PUFFS

Make a paste with half a pound of Simpson's flour, one egg, and a little cold water. Roll this paste on a board with a cold bottle, cover it with little nuts of butter, fold, and roll again. Do this four times in all. Now cut the paste into heart-shaped pieces, place a spoonful of jam in the middle of one piece, cover with another, pinch the edges together very lightly, sprinkle sugar on the top of each puff, and bake quickly in a fairly hot oven. This paste can be baked in a sheet, then spread with jam when cool. It is also recommended as a suitable base for hot puddings. In this case it is better to cook the apples in rounds first, and spread them evenly while hot on the hot paste. It is a delicious sweet, especially if the apples are cooked in a thick caramel syrup.

PANDORA JELLY

Try this when you are expecting friends to lunch:

- 1 packet orange jelly
- 2 plantains
- 6 shelled walnuts
- water
- 4 lumps of sugar

Melt jelly according to instructions on the packet. Add sugar and dissolve. Pour a little into a wet jelly mould. When nearly set add a few slices of plantains, then a little more jelly. When nearly set arrange the halved, shelled walnuts on top, then more jelly and, when almost set, more plantains. Turn out when required and serve with tinned cream, whipped and flavoured with vanilla, if you have no fresh cream. If I have any grapes, I add half-a-dozen, after carefully seeding them. Sometimes I add a little chopped, tinned fruit.

If any jelly is left over, keep it on the ice till next day when it can be roughly cut up and served in custard glasses.

APRICOT DESSERT

- 1 Pound of Dried Apricots
- 1 Pound of Seedless Raisins
- 1 Pound of Prunes
- 1 Pound of Almonds

Wash the apricots, raisins and prunes well, put them in a pan and cover with water, let boil until cooked. Remove from fire and let it cool. Shell the almonds, put them in boiling water for one minute, then skin or seven almonds on each dish.

For the Tea Table

DRY GINGERBREAD

Take half a pound of ground almonds and the same quantity of fine bread-crumbs and castor sugar. Add two teaspoonfuls of ground ginger and mix with the yolks of two new-laid eggs and the juice of a lemon. Butter some patty pans, fill with the mixture, place a crescent of candied peel on the top of each, and bake in a slow oven till done.

DOCTORS' ORDERS

Substitutes for Toast

When medical orders have been given that bread must be entirely omitted from the diet except in its toasted form it seems a simple enough instruction to carry out. In point of fact, however, toast at every meal complicates considerably the task of the busy housekeeper, for toast, to be nice, must be made at the last. Its making cannot be hurried over, as it is not the thick variety with a soft inside that the doctor has in mind but something well dried all through. Apart from the time absorbed there is the increased gas consumption to reckon with.

To meet the difficulty it is wise to have ready prepared for one or more of the meals some of the toast substitutes which can so easily be made at home, which are delicious and at which no doctor can possibly cavil.

Pulled Bread

For this a fresh loaf, a warm one if possible, is needed. Some people may like a tin loaf; others prefer a light Coburg. Peel off the crust and then with two forks proceed to flake the bread into manageable little pieces, perhaps an inch and a half long and an inch wide and an inch deep—little, rough pieces. This pulled bread is spoilt if a knife is used. Bake in an oven to a pale golden shade. The rocky little bits must, of course, be baked all through and should be crisp and not hard.

Crunchies

These are made from a new French roll, long by-the-ward roll. Cut rounds of this about half an inch thick or even thicker if it is a light loaf full of holes. Dry these in the oven to a deep cream. Given a light roll these are a particularly delicious form of crispbread. Eaten with honey they are excellent.

Fairy Toast

For this a loaf of stone-milled flour is suitable, as a close texture is no drawback. With the sharpest of knives cut water-like slices and bake them in the oven to a light golden brown. As they dry the slices curl up in a most enchanting manner, and their daintiness merits their name; they are not hunger-appeasers first and foremost, but they are appetizing in convalescence.

A little practice with the oven temperatures is needed before these toast-substitutes are at their best; but the housekeeper can choose her own time for making them. In airtight tins they keep their crispness well, and they more than hold their own in competition with any of the bought substitutes.

Consommé à l'Aurore
Sole Clarence
Cailles en casserole
Poussin au chocolat
Canapé Fédora

Five courses will be enough for this unassuming though delicious meal. The Consommé is flavoured with tomato and lightly bound with tapioca. The garnish is thin julienne strips of cold white chicken meat.

The sole is in fillets and poached. The garnish consists of poached, soft roes and shrimps, and is masked with a White Wine sauce flavoured with anchovy butter.

The quails are plainly cooked in butter in a casserole, and the gravy completed with a little brandy and game stock.

The pears are poached in syrup, and served with a chocolate sauce made with the cooking liquor from the pears, flavoured lightly with cinnamon. This dish is, of course, a hot one.

And if a savoury must conclude the meal, though it would end more happily, I think with the sweet, no one would be offended by these little canapés of grilled bacon, grilled mushroom and a stuffed olive.

SOFT VANILLA CARAMEL

- 1 lb. sugar
- 2 oz. cocoa butter
- 4 oz. glucose
- 8 oz. unsweetened condensed milk
- Vanilla flavouring

Place the sugar and milk on the stove and slowly reduce to syrup, bring to the boil, add the liquid glucose and boil to 250°F. Now add the condensed milk slowly, keeping the boiling mixture gently stirred. When the milk is all used, add the cocoa butter previously run to oil. Boil up to 255°F. Add the vanilla and pour out into a tin. For cutting when fairly set, add a few ounces fine sawdust can be added if liked. The amateur should remember that all sugar boilings containing milk, or condensed milk need a large enough pan to allow for rising considerably.

Brazil Nut Toffee

- 2 lb. loaf sugar
- 12 oz. glucose
- 4 oz. butter
- 12 oz. brazil nuts (shelled and sliced as required)

'ASPRO'
as a GARGLE for
SORE THROATS

THERE are few people throughout the world who are not acquainted with the virtues of "ASPRO" in relieving pain—stopping Colds—Flu and Rheumatic attacks at inception. Many, however, do not know how to use "ASPRO" as a gargle for Sore Throats. Two "ASPRO" Tablets in four tablespoonfuls of water make a very effective gargle, acting as a powerful antiseptic for Sore Throats because of its natural germicidal qualities. The reason why "ASPRO" has such quick action in banishing so many varied complaints is because, after ingestion in the system, it is a powerful germicide and solvent of uric acid, is an anti-Pyretic or fever destroyer and is antiseptic—anti-periodic and anti-fermentative.

5 MINUTES

FOR RELIEF WITH 'ASPRO'

There is nothing indefinite about "ASPRO". Its service is QUICK—safe, effective and definite. It gives you relief in 5 to 10 minutes and then goes on to dispel or dissolve the cause of the pain, allowing Nature to effect its own cure. Furthermore, you get no harmful after-effects from "ASPRO", as it is speedily eliminated from the system a few hours after being taken. It neither dopes, deadens nor drugs.

'ASPRO' BRINGS
SWEET
SLEEP

There are many thousands of people who now have sweet peaceful sleep, who hitherto hardly knew the meaning of a period of restfulness. "ASPRO" has brought about the transformation by its sweet soothing influence on the nerves, and breaking up of local feverish conditions. Two tablets before retiring is the usual dose.

HOW TO GIVE
TO CHILDREN

Two simple methods of giving "ASPRO" to the kiddies are: (a) with a little milk; or (b) break the tablet up and administer in a teaspoonful of jam. The dosage is: Children 3 to 6 years, 1 tablet; 6 to 14 years, 1 tablet; 14 to 16 years, 1 1/2 tablets. "ASPRO" like any other medicine should not be given to babies under 3 years of age without medical advice.

THE HYGIENIC SANTAPÉ
PACKING METHOD EXPLAINED.THE 'SANTAPÉ' METHOD EXPLAINED.

The plant consists of the most up-to-date and efficient mechanical apparatus, including a number of "SANTAPÉ" machines, which seal the tablets hygienically in specially prepared wax paper compartments.

This system is known as the modern HYGIENIC "SANTAPÉ" method of packing, and because of its thoroughly protective properties, ensures that "ASPRO" retains its original high standard of purity. His should serve to commend "ASPRO" to all who appreciate the absolute necessity of purity in medicine.

The wonderful human-like "SANTAPÉ" machines are one of the most ingenious and highly developed engineering triumphs of modern times. The machines wrap the tablets with unerring regularity in waxed paper, divide the paper into separate compartments, crimp each compartment so that no air can find access to the tablet, fold the tapes, and finally pass them through sprays of paraffin wax, effectively sealing the "SANTAPÉ" and rendering the tablets proof against damp, moisture and any form of contamination.

ELIMINATION OF HANDLING

The "SANTAPÉ" method of packing has a distinct advantage over the crude and obsolete system of hand packing. At no time during the process of manufacturing, compressing and packing, do "ASPRO" Tablets come in contact with the human hand, therefore, contamination from this source is entirely prevented. The tablets reaching the consumer in the same perfect hygienic state as when they left the tabletting machine.

What 'ASPRO' Does:

- 1 It Stops Violent Head-aches in 5 to 10 minutes.
- 2 It Brings Sweet Sleep to the Sleepless.
- 3 It Relieves Rheumatism in one night.
- 4 It Relieves Children's Growing Pains.
- 5 It Saves many a Sound Tooth by Removing Toothache.
- 6 It Brings Relief without causing sickness, indigestion or a craving.
- 7 It Stops Pain without harming the Heart.
- 8 It soothes away Irritability.

- 9 A hot lemon drink with 2 or 3 'ASPRO' Tablets will smash up a Cold or Flu attack in one night.
- 10 It Reduces Temperature in 5 minutes.
- 11 It can be taken at any time, in Train, Home, at Business — anywhere — everywhere.
- 12 It gives the greatest relief ever known to women at their times of periodical depression.
- 13 It Stops the ill After-Effects of Alcohol.
- 14 It relieves Drunken and Mal-aria by reducing the fever.
- 15 As a Gargle 'ASPRO' is wonderful for Sore Throats, Tonsillitis, etc.

YOUR LAMB NEXT SUNDAY

Here is rather a special way of cooking a leg of lamb.

Put into a casserole large enough to hold the leg some sliced carrots and onions and a few pieces of bacon rind. Lay the leg on this bed, and cook it on a slow heat for twenty minutes or so. Take it off for a few minutes, then add a cupful of stock seasoned with salt and pepper, and finish cooking the joint in the oven, covering it with buttered greaseproof paper and basting it well as it cooks.

While the lamb is cooking, make a thick Béchamel sauce and, when the joint is done, skim the fat off the gravy and add the latter to the sauce. Discard the vegetables on which the lamb has cooked, and add to the sauce some asparagus tips cooked and sautéed in butter (or tinned ones would do at a pinch).

Pour this sauce over the lamb on serving, and decorate the dish with small heaps of more asparagus.

(If you wanted to have fresh asparagus, and Cavallion or Lauris were too expensive, you could easily use the cheaper sprue for this dish.)

Cook at Mark 4 on the Regulo for 1 hour 45 minutes, that is, after the 20 minutes on the hot-plate (for 30 minutes when boned).

Cookery Nook

A hungry friend is coming to dinner (that's the worst of the telephone), and it's the maid's day out! Luckily it is not early closing day, so that butcher will send you some steak (that's the best of the telephone), and, of course, you have a tin of macedoine of vegetables in the store cupboard.

Warm the macedoine in a little butter, add two sliced and mushrooms, and a tablespoonful of sherry.

Let this gently while the steaks—small ones, about half an inch thick—are grilling. Serve the steaks on croutons of fried bread, with the delicious vegetable garnish round them.

LOVELY POTATOES

Here is a specially lovely way of cooking potatoes when next you want a change for this course. Peel some large floury ones, and cook them in water with a little salt till they are half done. Then drain them and let them get cold.

Now fry them in deep fat. The outside will be a rich gold and the inside a most delicious flouriness.

SMILE AWHILE

Billy: "A bottle of beer, an' my mother wants it on tick."
Barney: "Well, she can't have it." "Go home and tell to put her things on tick."

SABOYO

Sabayon is really a sauce, used with some hot sweets, but it makes a pleasant light sweet by itself. It is made with yolk of egg, sugar and, usually, dry white wine, though milk can be used instead of wine and various flavours can then be introduced.

This is how it is made with wine. Mix half a pound of powdered sugar with six egg-yolks till the mixture gets slightly white. Then add a pint of dry white wine, and pour the whole thing into a basin, which should be placed in a receptacle containing boiling water. Whisk the mixture well in this. It should grow to about four times its original size and remain a firm froth.

Smile Awhile

The young husband was partaking of cakes made by his spouse, and ventured to remark: "Don't you think, dearest, these cakes have a rather curious taste?"

"The young wife tossed her curls indignantly. "That's all you know about it, my dear," said she. "The cookery-book says they are delicious!"

"EMPEROR JONES"

 Opening To-day at the King's.

Have you ever been to a buffet flat? It's neither a lunch room nor a variation of a Western plain. It's peculiar to Harlem yet few white visitors to that Negro haven in New York City ever hear of it and practically none get into one.

"Emperor Jones" a picturization of Eugene O'Neill's famous play, released by United Artists and playing on Thursday at the King's Theatre, with Paul Robeson and Dudley Digges in the leading roles, a buffet flat is shown in all its colorful detail.

A buffet flat is simply a Harlem apartment to which people come to sit around, eat, drink, sing and dance. It is Harlem at its most natural. The owner of the flat is usually a woman of some maturity perhaps an actress or singer whose personality and flair for the dramatic attract every-one to her apartment and thus allows her to earn her livelihood.

 Spencer Tracy
IN "THE POWER AND THE GLORY"

The buffet flat is the modern Harlem counterpart of the salons of classical France and the coffee houses of Queen Anne's day. Or, more correctly, it is a combination of those two, plus a dash of the gypsy clubs of pre-Bolshevik Russia.

Greatest care was exerted by producers John Krimsky and Gifford Cochran to reproduce "Emperor Jones" the correct atmosphere of a buffet flat. Actual habitués were rounded up and persuaded to appear at the studio. Then they were turned loose on the set and allowed to enjoy themselves. The results were heartily endorsed by Dudley Murphy the director.

Authentic touches of Negro life from a Pullman car to the West Indies which is the scope of the story are present throughout in "Emperor Jones," which was adapted from the O'Neill play by DuBose Heyward.

HONG KONG, FEBRUARY 22, 1934.

BRITISH FINANCE AND COMMERCE

In the annals of British industry the year 1933 will assuredly be remembered as the year which witnessed the beginning of the long climb from out of the greatest financial depression in all history. This depression at the beginning of that year had lasted more than three years, and it would be unreasonable to look for a rapid recovery therefrom. Nevertheless, at the opening of 1934 the tide of British industry is quite definitely on the flow back to a period of greater prosperity. Turn where we will, to the figures of reduced unemployment, to more profitable banking, to increased dividends, to higher stock exchange and produce market quotations, indeed, to all the usual indices of trade expansion, the tale is the same—steady advance, from which the speculative element is largely absent.

Great Britain more than any other country is one which conducts its financial transactions by means of cheque payments. This means that one of the most reliable indications of the state of trade is to be found in the figures of the turnover of the banks. For the first time since 1929 the amount of bills, cheques, etc., passing through the London Bankers' Clearing House was larger in the year under review than in the preceding year. The total was £32,137 millions, an increase of £25 millions on 1932, but this figure represents a decline on the pre-slump year of 1929 of no less than £12,759 millions. The increase for 1933 is only 1 of one per cent, but when one remembers that world trade has declined by about two-thirds in the last four years (a fact which has greatly reduced the use of sterling bills) any increase is gratifying. The country cheque clearing, which is generally held to indicate trade conditions more faithfully than town and metropolitan clearings, shows a bigger increase than the aggregate total of all clearings, being 3.5 per cent. larger than in 1932, and also in excess of that for the preceding year, 1931. Taking the year month by month, country clearings were larger in most of the months, the increase in the last six months being substantial. When comparing banking results for 1933 with those for 1932 it should be remembered that the former year had two working days less than the latter. In the case of the turnover, this represents a loss of about £210 millions to the total.

Last year the average of money rates was appreciably less than in 1932. Bank rate (the Bank of England's rate for re-discounting bills) which fixes all the other money rates averaged 2 per cent, as against over 3 per cent. in 1932. The rate for Treasury Bills was phenomenally low, the average discount rate for the weekly tender for bills being a little over 11/6d. per cent., a big drop from the 1932 average of 33/4d. The rates for three months' banks bills and short loans was automatically and proportionately lower. It follows from these figures that the gross earnings of the banks must have been materially less than in the previous year, unless compensated for, as they were, by other factors. Further, advances, normally the most remunerative channel for the employment of banking funds, declined considerably on the year.

On the other hand, according to the usual table compiled by the Midland Bank, new capital issues made in the United Kingdom last year amounted to nearly £133 millions. This figure can be contrasted with the £113 millions for 1932 and the £88 millions for 1931. The year, 1933, therefore, shows a considerable expansion on its two predecessors, but it is still much below the average total prior to 1931. £95 millions of the total were issues on behalf of home borrowers, a figure to compare with issues in this category of £83 millions in 1932. Overseas Empire borrowers took £29 millions, as against £28 millions, and foreign issues were £7,996,000 in 1933 as against £3,480,000 in 1932. Overseas lending is, of course, very strictly supervised by the Treasury authorities in these days of erratic foreign exchanges.

At the moment of writing we have still to wait for the full banking returns, but three of the Big Five banks, and one of the more important of the union banks, have issued figures showing their profits for 1933. Two of the principal discount companies have also issued preliminary statements. In the case of all four banks and the two discount companies the dividend paid last year is being maintained. Bank dividends do not vary much, and the chief interest lies in the net profit statements. Of the banks alluded to above the net profit of Barclays last year was £1,604,679, as against £1,574,013. The Midland Bank's net profit was £2,286,846, against £2,019,143. Lloyds earned £1,438,822, against the larger sum in 1932 of £1,550,511. The smaller bank, Martin's, netted £854,941, against £838,950. In the case of the two discount companies there is an increase in the amounts carried forward. These figures show that

BLACK SHIRT
CAMPAIGNCausing Increasing
Concern

London, Feb. 20.
The Mosley Black Shirt campaign in England is causing increasing concern to the authorities, not because of the headway it is making but because of the hostility aroused in many places.

Asked in the House of Commons, whether he proposed to prohibit the wearing of uniforms by political parties, the Home Secretary, Sir John Gilmour, said that representations on the subject had reached him from many quarters.

He was most concerned with the provocative effect of such uniforms in the streets and public places, and disturbances, which the police attributed to the wearing of political uniforms, had increased from eleven in the first half of 1933 to twenty-two in the last six months.

The whole question was engaging his serious consideration.—British Wireless.

DECISION OF FLEMISH DEPUTIES

Not To Attend Friday's Ceremony

WHEN NEW BELGIAN KING TAKES OATH

Brussels, Feb. 21. A jarring note on the eve of King Albert's funeral was struck by the decision of the Nationalist Flemish deputies of the Belgian Chamber not to attend the ceremony on Friday at which the new King will take his constitutional oath.

They have already demonstrated their extremist views by withdrawing from the Chamber during the official eulogy on the late King. Explaining their decision, one of the Flemish Deputies said, first of all we have nothing to do with this purely Belgian ceremony, and also we protest against the Premier making the eulogy in French instead of Flemish. It is suggested that the Flemish extremists may demonstrate during the oath ceremony, but if they do, they will be expelled.—Reuter.

TRIBUTES TO LATE KING ALBERT

London, February 20. Eloquent and moving tributes to the late King Albert were delivered in both Houses of Parliament to-day.

In the Commons, the floor and galleries were crowded when at the end of question time the Prime Minister rose to move that King George be asked to convey an expression of the deep regret with which the House had learned the news of King Albert's death and to pray him to express the profound sympathy felt with the Queen of the Belgians, the Royal family and the Government and people of Belgium.

The Prime Minister said the late King held a unique place among the rulers of Europe. He recalled how at the outbreak of the war in 1914, this quiet and unostentatious man was unshakable in his devotion to national liberty and his loyalty to obligations.

He was the embodiment of his people and one of the most powerful personal factors in the conduct of the war. As the months passed he grew in stature in the eyes of all who had dealings with him.

A Great King

He was patient in suffering and restrained in triumph. Through the whole of that terrible time he was faithful to the charge of his kingship.

Throughout the years of his reign, King Albert had fulfilled the pledge given in the first speech he delivered from the Throne when he declared "A Sovereign must be unceasingly attentive to the voice of the country and watch with sympathy over the state of the humblest. He is the servant of law and the guardian of social peace."

The Prime Minister added: "In bidding him farewell, one can but say he was a fine man, a great King and a noble citizen."

Courage And Constancy

On behalf of the opposition, Major Attlee also expressed heartfelt sympathy, describing the late King as a man who in adversity and war displayed high courage and constancy, and in the difficult times of peace, wisdom and understanding.

Other speakers included Sir Herbert Samuel, who during the early stages of the war was the Minister responsible for the welfare of the quarter of a million Belgian refugees who came to Britain; and who, after the Armistice, went to Belgium as the special commissioner appointed to aid in her restoration.

Requiem Mass

In the House of Lords, Lord Halifax said that King Albert in physical perfection, intellectual ability and in greatness of character, was a prominent figure in Europe, and the world, especially at this moment, could ill afford his loss.

He expressed profound sympathy for the Queen and prayed that the Duke of Brabant, so suddenly called to take on a great responsibility, might be strengthened by the same courage, wisdom and understanding with which his father was endowed.

Tributes were also paid by Lord Ponsonby and Earl Reading.

The London County Council, standing in silence, to-day passed a resolution of sympathy with the Belgian Royal family and nation. A Requiem Mass will take place at Westminster Cathedral on Wednesday of next week.—British Press.

MEMORIAL SERVICE IN LONDON

London, Feb. 21. The King and Queen will attend the memorial service for the King of Belgians which will be held to-morrow at Westminster Abbey. The Prince of Wales who is representing King George at King Albert's funeral to-morrow is proceeding to Brussels to-day by aeroplane.

A detachment of the Royal Air Force left to-day to attend the funeral of King Albert. Admiral of the Fleet, Sir Roger Keyes, and Field-Marshal Lord Allenby, headed by the Prince of Wales, left by H.M.S. Curacao escorted by H.M.S. Winchester. A detachment and battalion of the Chatham Division of Royal Marines also travelled on the Curacao.—British Wireless.

LEIPZIG FAIR

To Be Opened By Goebbels

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 21, 7.30 p.m.)

Leipzig, February 21. The optimistic spirit in which the German business world faces the second year of Hitler's regime is clearly demonstrated by the fact that the "Leipzig International Fair" is to be opened on March 4 by Reichpropaganda Minister, Goebbels. The number of firms that have so far applied for exhibition space already exceeds seven thousand two hundred, which represents an increase of eight hundred over the number at the fair last year, which was thirteen thousand four hundred and seven.

This increase is not confined to any special section of the fair but is evenly distributed over all branches of production. The increment in the total amount of space reserved is still more striking, amounting to more than sixty per cent, showing that most firms are displaying on a large scale. Over 15,000 buyers have notified their intention of attending. Special feature of this fair will be a display of the Saar industry in the technical section, this marking the continuance of the Saar connections with all former pre-war customers lost by the Treaty of Versailles because it is assumed that before the next Spring Fair at Leipzig, the fate of the Saar will be decided. In good years the sales of merchandise affected through Leipzig has been computed at 50,000,000 Sterling at par. Germany hopes that success at the coming fair will mark one more decisive step towards the nation's unemployment problem.—Transocean Kuo Min.

EDEN AND VON HINDENBURG

War Time Experiences

London, Feb. 21. Capt. Anthony Eden to-day will have conversations in Berlin with German Ministers. His meeting with President von Hindenburg yesterday is described as being of a very friendly character. The "Times" Berlin correspondent understands that yesterday the President and Capt. Eden got on very well together and found common ground in their wartime experiences in the trenches. He adds that the conversations "evidently left the impression that Capt. Eden's visit was well worth while whatever comes of it in detail. If a fairly good beginning should open prospects of advance in the armaments problem, it may as well be prolonged."

Capt. Eden had intended to leave for Rome tomorrow. On his return from Rome he may have further talks, when passing through Paris, with the French Ministers.—British Wireless.

PARTY HATRED

To Be Forgotten In Vienna

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 21, 7.30 p.m.)

Vienna, February 21. This morning's newspapers comment in conciliatory tones upon Tuesday's great public mourning for the soldiers and police, who lost their lives while called out on duty during the recent upheavals.

They emphasize those passages in the speeches of the Federal President Miklas and of Chancellor Dollfuss, which stated that this was no time to celebrate victory. What Austria must now do is to set about the task of self-transformation, forgetting all thoughts of party hatred, revenue and reprisals.

The announcement that the state of siege has been withdrawn is an outward sign that a line has been drawn through the regrettable events of the past. The official organ "Wiener Zeitung" heads their leading article "Swords turned into ploughshares." Other papers such as Neu Wiener Tagblatt, Wiener Tagblatt, write that out of the earth which closed on Tuesday over the victims' hatred, peace must spring up in a new life.—Transocean Kuo Min.

The Government sympathized with the amendment but objected that it might actually reduce the amount for relief payable to an entire household.—Reuter.

The "National Magyar" asserts rather acidly that for fourteen years past the Little Entente has succeeded in presenting closer cooperation between Hungary and Austria and thus have made recovery of the Danube basin impossible. Only one man and one State has been able boldly to conceive the future Danube basin, that is Mussolini and Italy. The Liberal "Pesti Naplo" recalls the fact that Hungary has had much from Italy and that Italy will never be disappointed in Hungary. GRAVE WATER SHORTAGE IN ENGLAND

Baths And Washing Days Are But Memories

London, Feb. 21. Faced with the prospects of further dry weather throughout England, both country and townsfolk are alarmed at the increasing menace of a drought. Baths and washing days are becoming but memories at Kettering where the thirty thousand inhabitants are honour bound not to use baths, and are allowed water for drinking and cooking only.

Manchester with only 58 days supply left, was compelled to assist Liverpool up to eight million gallons. The day's supplies may soon be rationed in both cities. The House of Commons, when the rural water supplies Bill will be discussed to-morrow, will press for

GEN. JOHNSON ATTACKS OPPONENTS

Vigorous Broadcast Speech By N.R.A. Administrator

Washington, February 21. Likening his critics to dead sea apples regarding their theories of a correspondence school for cowboys, the N.R.A. General Johnson invited everybody with grievances or suggestions concerning the National Recovery Administration to either attend the public hearing beginning on February 6 and extending up till March 3, to appear privately or to write through personal assaults or academic conjectures not supported by facts would not be considered.

MANY FREEZE TO DEATH

Extreme Cold In America

New York, Feb. 20. The Arctic weather accounted for numerous deaths, including ten widows or daughters of War veterans, in a fire which broke out at the Soldiers' Memorial Home at Brookville, Pennsylvania.

When water was obtainable it froze on the building.

Thrilling rescue scenes were witnessed, but ten of the inmates lost their lives.

All day long driving snowstorms were experienced over a large area, making it extremely difficult for railway travellers to get to town.

The blizzard, preventing hundreds of clerks and operators from reaching Wall Street, caused a delay in the opening of the New York Cotton and Stock Exchanges until 11 a.m.

TRAINING GALLOPS

JUST THAT IN GREAT TRIM

Covers Fast Three Quarters In Spite Of Bad Running In The Straight

The feature of yesterday morning's gallops at the course was the excellent performance of Mr. Seth's Australian pony, Just That, who, taken over three quarters of a mile by Mr. S. Y. Sung, came home in the excellent time of 1.25. The time would have been much better had the pony behaved properly in the home straight but he was seen to swerve out badly.

The gallop of Soldier of Britain actually took place on Tuesday and it will be seen at once that this pony is an outstanding one. He took 1.31.2 for the three quarters and the last half mile is 58.2 which is by far the best performance among this year's griffins.

The Carp, City View, Chow Fan and Cavalcade all did well in the subscription griffins sections.

HOME FOOTBALL

HONOURS EVEN IN "GREAT SKATE"

Ice Pitch Upsets Players At Birmingham

I have now seen everything in football—Kamirs playing in bare feet in South Africa, Russians playing in pads without stockings at the Olympic Games at Stockholm, Austrians playing in Vienna when it was so hot that 50,000 spectators took off their coats and waistcoats, Scotsmen playing on several inches of snow, and now Birmingham, and Middlesbrough playing a match on skates!

For that is what this affair amounted to. The ground was not only frozen hard, but was icy. Players could not stand on it. The ball could not stop. When it hit the earth it bounced house high. When the player shot the ball flew in the air.

Why? Because the men could not keep their feet.

Yes, football on skates. That's what it was.

The teams slid and slipped and scrambled. And when they fell they hit Mother Earth with a force that rattled all their ribs and shook the fillings of their teeth.

AFRAID TO SHOOT

What can we say about a match like this? In the first half I marked down Fillingham and Brown as a pair to divide the day's prize for high kicking, but that perhaps is a bit unfair, as all the players had their share. Couldn't do much else. Several shots at goal went "a mile" over the bar.

Consequently, both sets of forwards grew afraid to shoot.

There was Cammell, in the first half, passing to the left wing when he was only eight yards from the goal line and Hibbs was down and out of his goal.

True, Lea, for Birmingham, and Baxter, for the Borough, got rappings shots at the mark just before half-time, but these were the exceptions that marked the rule.

For shortly after the change of ends, both Stoker and Calland—half-backs playing in the forward line—hesitated to shoot when the goal was yawning wide, and another chance was lost.

HIGGLEDY-PIGGLEDY TEAMS

But you could not blame them. Ever tried playing football on an ice rink?

The teams were higgledy-piggledy, too. That did not help. Birmingham, as I say, had Stoker and Calland, wing half-backs, in the inside forward positions, and Middlesbrough played Martin, a left half, at outside right, and Ferguson, an inside man, on the left wing.

To sum up, the crowd had to make the best of a bad job, and in the good old British way, it did. The 20,000 people enjoyed the great skate, laughed at the players' difficulties, and, on the whole, forgave their mistakes, although Haywood should have done better than sky that ball when shooting at goal from 12 yards, 20 minutes from the end.

GRIFFITHS' GREATNESS

In the second half Birmingham had much the better of the game, and this despite the fact that, if anything, Middlesbrough had moved with rather more promise than their opponents, before the interval. But it was never a test of football. The conditions were too bad.

I want to name one or two expert skaters and have done with it.

First prize: Tom Griffiths, Middlesbrough's centre half. But he always seems to play well. That he stood out this day was the mark of the great player. And Birmingham paid tribute.

If I select Stoker for praise it is because he showed real enterprise and skill in his new position, and that, too, marks a good man. I name Jennings for consistently good work at right-back for Middlesbrough, commend Morrall and both goalkeepers for doing such as they had to do quite well, and to the others I move a vote of sympathy for being made by sick frost to look poorer players than they are.

ERROR LOSES POINTS

Albion On Top, But Rovers Win

West Bromwich Albion were beaten by Blackburn Rovers at the Hawthorns by an orphan goal in a disappointing game.

Both teams held experimental sides.

Although they had nearly all the play in the first half Albion could not turn their advantage into goals. Carter once shot straight into Binn's hands from two yards' range, and another centre from Olden passed across the goalmouth with no one at hand to put it through.

To crown this display of weak finishing W. G. Richardson missed a spot kick. The penalty was given against White for bringing down Giddens as the Albion captain was going through, but Richardson shot straight at Binn, and the ball rebounded from the goalkeeper's knee into safety.

Albion maintained their territorial

Small Units Championship Decided

At Sookunpoo yesterday, R.A.S.C. and H.Q. Coy. East Lancashire Regiment met in the final of the Small Units league, the former winning by five wickets.

East Lancashire batted first and made 149 runs. Pte. Stanford and Pte. Bevan scored 32 and 21 respectively. Dvr. Whitley, the R.A.S.C. fast bowler, took 5 wickets for 32.

R.A.S.C. passed their opponent's total with five wickets in hand and Cpl. Ballard who was in fine batting form, scored 83 not out. Baker who took 3 for 28 being the most successful bowler for the East Lancashire Regiment.

The scores were:—
H.Q. East Lanc. Regiment 149
Pte. Stanford, 32
Pte. Bevan, 21
Dvr. Whitley, 5 for 32
R.A.S.C. 153
(for 5 wickets)
Cpl. Ballard, 83 not out.

By the departure of the Troop-ship Neuraia to-morrow, the Army in particular and the Colony in general, will lose more than a score of well-known sportsmen.

The Borderers are the most affected for they will lose Pte. Harris, Pte. Wallace, Sgt. Pallister, Pte. Williams, Pte. Herbert and Pte. Jenkins from the soccer side, Pte. Lloyd, Cpl. Suter and Pte. Walters from rugby, and Pte. Dyke, Pte. Pole, Pte. Motherwell and Sgt. Halford from the hockey section.

Pte. Ronan, the well-known cricketer and Pte. Smith, the swimmer, both of whom also belong to the Borderers, are also leaving.

Regarding the Lincolnshire Regiment, their chances of winning the First Division soccer championship will be considerably reduced as a result of the departure of L/Cpl. Cork, the Interport reserve, Cpl. Bett, L/Cpl. Roden, L/Cpl. Deacon and Pte. Heath, all of whom have done great service in that division.

Pte. Worrall and Cpl. Clark will also be missed in the junior teams.

The entire Army football team, including Yeoman, a former Interport, are also leaving by the Neuraia as well as Combe, the Artillery's brilliant goal-keeper and Allan, their Interport soccer right back, who has been transferred to Singapore.

Entirely superficial, unmethodical and unappealing," is the author's description of this book, but no one will be scared away from Dame Edith Lyttleton by a negative. It has three virtues which may be set off against these alleged deficiencies: the virtues of spontaneity and clear-sightedness and charm.

The tone changes as the traveller crosses to Mukden and she is confronted with the paradox of the old and the new China: what seems to have impressed her most was the singular vitality and courage of the younger educated women.

United, it seems, have failed to keep abreast of the times. They are much too orthodox for present-day requirements, and while the attack, small but lively, manages to hold its own, there is no real strength in defence.

Holmes never seemed to be able to make up his mind whether to play in the fashionable third full-back position or whether to advance immediately behind his forwards. Wilkinson and Green had no idea of dropping back to cover one another, while the half-backs were scattered by the brilliant dribbling and intricate passing of Chelsea's forwards.

This was Chelsea's best display of the season, and was appreciated by the crowds which must have numbered 38,000.

PRINCE SIGVARD ENGAGED To Berlin Merchant's Daughter

Stockholm, Feb. 21.
Another Royal romance has come along to distress the Swedish Royal House, with the announcement of the engagement of Prince Sigvard to Miss Erika Patzek, the daughter of a Berlin merchant.

Prince Sigvard is the second son of the Swedish Crown Prince and the engagement has been announced in defiance of the wishes of King Gustav and of the Crown Prince.

The young Prince is following the example of his cousin, Prince Lennart, eldest son of Prince William, the second son of King Gustav. Prince Lennart renounced his rights of succession and titles to marry Miss Karin Nisswandt, daughter of a Stockholm business man.

King Gustav has announced that if Prince Sigvard marries without his consent, he will forfeit his royal rights.

The Prince has replied by indicating that he proposes to marry Miss Patzek in London shortly.

Uncle To Stop Wedding?

Stockholm, Feb. 21.
The announcement that the twenty-five year old Prince Sigvard, second son of the Crown Prince of Sweden, and brother of Princess Ingrid, will marry a German lady not of Royal birth against the King's consent, has caused a sensation in Sweden, coming so soon after a similar marriage of Prince Lennart and a more serious view is taken of it as Prince Sigvard is second in succession to the Throne after his father and it is likely he will forfeit his Royal Rights same as Prince Lennart.

Prince Sigvard is believed now to be in London with his fiancée, Miss Erika Patzek, daughter of a Berlin merchant, whom he met a year ago when working at the Ufa film studios in Neubabelsberg.

His whereabouts in London is not known, but it is believed his uncle, Count Folke Bernadotte who is also in London will attempt to prevent the wedding.

JUST THREE POINTS

On How Peace Can Be Preserved

London, Feb. 21.

The final declaration of the International Congress in defence of peace held in Brussels last week contains the following point. Firstly, that only by maintaining and strengthening the collective system based on the Covenant of the League and the Briand-Kellogg Pact can war be averted and civilization saved.

Secondly, that peace cannot be realized without disarmament, nor can disarmament be achieved in an atmosphere of insecurity.

Therefore, nations must be prepared to pay the price of peace by accepting responsibility for the prevention of war.

Thirdly, for state members of league this responsibility implies readiness if need be, to the strength of all for defence of each. For other states who are signatories of the Briand-Kellogg Pact, this responsibility involves consultation with the League of Nations with a view to averting conflict or to restoring peace, or at least, in order to avoid any action which might frustrate collective efforts of other nations.

The Prime Minister stated in the Commons that as the Government considered the matter urgent, a Bill to facilitate the construction of the new Cunarder would be introduced at the earliest possible moment, and the necessary money resolution would be put down for Thursday.

GERMAN EQUALITY IN THE AIR Minister Goering's Plea

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, February 21, 7.30 p.m.)

Berlin, Feb. 20.

In an interview with English Newspaper Reporters, the German Air Minister, Goering, pleaded most emphatically for German equality in the Air, and demanded for Germany a defensive Air Force. If other big powers refused to abolish bombing planes, and from his hitherto experience it seems unlikely that the other powers will scrap their bombing machines.

Regarding the size of this Air Defence Force, Minister Goering said it must be 30 or 40 per cent. of the strength of the total combined air force of France, Belgium, Poland and Czechoslovakia.

This would be the most moderate defensive Air Force, just to protect the national security of Germany. The absence of military air planes and also anti-air craft guns makes the Reichswehr almost useless, because Germany is totally without defence against air attacks of the enemy.

By air attacks, the enemy forces could annihilate the population and destroy the country, without a single soldier having crossed the Frontier.

Wrong Assertion.
Asked by Reporters, Goering declared the assertion is completely wrong that the Opel Works manufacture air planes. On the contrary, the Opel Works have completely ceased to build motors for air planes.

With regard to civil aviation, Goering declared that Germany at present possesses 300 civil air planes. The assertion, however, that these civil air planes could be converted into military planes is as ridiculous as the use of private motor cars as armoured cars.

Asked by Representatives of the Press about Goering's opinion whether the Air Force will be of deciding importance in the next war, Goering said that it surely will be of deciding importance against an unprotected country like Germany.

With regard to the possibility of a new war, Goering declared that there may be enough reasons for a new war, but that on the other hand, enough people live who remember the terror of the last war. It would be the best if all Statesmen had been "front" soldiers, because they would then wish from their own experience, to spare the terror of a war for their country.

"NIGHTS OUT" FOR PRISONERS More U.S. Gaol Revelations

CONDITIONS BEYOND BELIEF

New York.

Further amazing disclosures of the conditions at the Welfare Island prison, New York, were available recently. Apart from wireless, pet dogs, special food, cigarettes, drugs, and other amenities, it was revealed that the gangster chiefs who virtually ruled the prison were:

Served by their own valets; Had gardens within the prison limits, a greenhouse and a goat; Spent at least one night a week in New York, a special ferry conveying them to the mainland; and Had their cells privately wired for telephone conversations outside the prison.

Among the gangster prisoners who enjoyed this prison luxury were: Joe Rao, a partner of Ciro Terranova, and "Dutch" Schultz, one of the best known "racketeers" of the Eastern States.

MEALS IN CELLS
Out of approximately 1,700 prisoners on the island, only about 1,200 would show up in the mess hall for their daily meals. The other 500—the ruling gangsters and their satellites, or ones who paid for the privilege—were able to order elaborate dishes from outside. These were eaten in their cells.

Orders to the Governor from the Department of Correction were ignored, but orders from district Tammany leaders were obeyed with alacrity. So powerful were "racket" chiefs that the wardens did not dare to remove them, even mildly, let alone order them to obey prison rules.

Commissioner MacCormick summed up the situation to-day by saying:

"The entire conditions constitute a vicious circle of crime and depravity that is almost beyond the ability of the imagination to grasp."

To-day 180 drug addicts, who had been freely supplied in prison, were transferred to hospital.

Latest reports from Washington indicate that the Federal Authorities will assist the New York City administration in prosecutions resulting from the Commissioner of Corrections' report.

A GOLD BULLION STANDARD

Opinion In The City

(Special Air Mail Service.)

London, February 3.

The United States has returned to gold by establishing an international gold bullion standard. The event is of outstanding importance, not only to the United States, but to the world generally, and the gold countries in particular, since it may prove to be the first essential step to the restoration of a common international monetary standard—one of the most important essentials to the restoration of international trade, which at present is little more than one-third of its 1929 value. It is true that the President has the power, should he think it necessary, to reduce the gold value of the dollar to 50 per cent, but that is merely a precautionary matter; indeed, every sovereign State has the power to fix its currency at whatever figure it chooses. The cardinal fact is that he has fixed the gold measure of the dollar at 59.06 per cent. of its former value, and is prepared freely to buy or sell gold on the basis of $35 an ounce in the international market. It should be noted that very few countries that have been on gold since the War have done other than adopt the bullion standard. The domestic use of gold coin has virtually ceased.

Effect On Markets

The President's announcement took most markets by surprise, and consequently the full effect of his decision will not be felt at once. Because they were uncertain as to whether the Treasury intended to accept gold in unlimited quantities from abroad at $35 an ounce, and whether gold would be exported should the exchange move against the dollar, bullion dealers in London yesterday decided to adhere to their practice of fixing the sterling price on the basis of the franc exchange, and not on the dollar. Nevertheless, the franc exchange was sharply affected by the American action, the Paris-London rate falling from 79 1/2-79 3/4 to 78 1/2-78 3/4. This caused a rise of 2s. 5d. in the sterling price of gold to 135s. 6d. This is the highest price on record, being 10d. above the previous highest figure reached last October. Yesterday's price was actually 1s. 3d. above the French parity, against 1d. on the previous day, and was due to a very keen demand for gold—not American as has been the case recently—from other parties for shipment to the United States for the sake of the considerable profit that can be made on such shipments. The Paris-London exchange finished at 77 1/2-78 1/2, which indicates that a further rise in the sterling price of gold will take place to-day. The Paris-New York exchange declined from 15.93 1/2 to 15.50 1/2, later recovering to 15.67 1/2. As this rate is substantially above the parity of the new gold dollar, shipments of gold beyond those arranged yesterday, amounting to $2,500,000, are expected to take place. The pound followed the dollar step by step in its depreciation yesterday, the New York rate for sterling being unchanged on the day at $4.9 1/4.

The Gold Bloc

A loss of gold by the gold countries to the United States is likely to be the immediate effect of the new development. Such a movement is the inevitable outcome of the undervaluation of the dollar, which arises from the fact that the rise in American prices has been insufficient to offset the depreciation in the dollar. The gold countries would not have been concerned in the depreciation of the dollar if American commodity prices had risen to an extent at least sufficient to offset this depreciation. The rise in American prices since the dollar began to depreciate, however, has been equal to little more than 50 per cent. of what it should have been. The main concern of the gold countries, as well as that of other countries with relatively stable currencies, is the future course of American prices. If these should rise strongly the strain on the gold countries will be diminished in proportion. The immediate signs are not unfavourable for yesterday the American market reacted strongly to the new development. It is becoming clear that the President is determined to stabilize the dollar at not less than its present figure, and that he will be recalcitrant in those quarters where hitherto it has been lacking, and would have remained absent as long as the monetary experiments had lasted. Stability of the currency will give confidence, especially to "financial" circles and to those numerous chambers of commerce in America which have urged a return to gold.

Asia Lands, Limited, has received the following report from their New York correspondents, E. A. Pierce & Co. "We think that today's action was rather reassuring in as much as trading sentiment had seemed to be quite bearish."

Wheat: Fear of moisture in the South West induced liquidation of new-crop months. Support was lacking, except in the case of shorts.

Cotton: Market easier on March liquidation. However, there is an element of strength in the fact that "spot" cotton continued to be hard to buy.

Silver: Commission-house and foreign liquidation in sympathy with the eagerness in London and Shanghai caused a decline. The Trade bought moderately.

Business Done: 1,520,000 shares.
